

Digital Resources Register (DRR) & eReadings

Staff at UTS Library will help you locate, digitise and upload your teaching materials to UTSOnline and the Library Catalogue.

UTS Library eReading service is managed via the DRR

Learning > DRR & eReadings

Library staff provide the following support for your online teaching:

- > Digitisation of print material.
- > Assistance in locating your teaching material.
- > Student access to your teaching materials via a Library Catalogue search by subject or lecturer.

How to

Learning > DRR & eReadings

- > Head to the Library website and complete the online form
- > Attach a file of the material to the form, or send a weblink, or hard copy or ask the library to locate a copy.

What happens next?

Library staff will check for copyright compliance and add a copyright notice to the material.

- > If you are unable to supply the material, Library staff will locate it for you.
- > You will be emailed a direct link to the material, which you can include on UTSOnline.
- > The material will also be placed in the Library's eReadings collection, accessible via the Catalogue.
- > Please visit our website and click on Learning > DRR & eReadings for more information, including FAQs and staff contact details.

Copyright legislation and the Copyright Agency Limited (CAL) license under which UTS staff can copy and communicate teaching materials require that UTS staff meet certain compliance conditions.

Is your material copyright compliant?

- > Do your lecture notes contain charts, graphs, tables or text copied from books, journals or websites?
- > Do you upload book extracts for your students to access online?
- > Do you upload journal articles?
- > Do you upload material from websites?
- > Do you provide links to UTS Library databases?

If you answered yes to one or more of these questions then you must ensure that you submit your teaching materials to the UTS Digital Resources Register (DRR) via the DRR & eReadings link on the UTS Library website.

How do I obtain copyright clearance for subject readings I want to put online?

Learning > DRR & eReadings

You can access the DRR through the Library website. When submitting material, either attach a file, send a weblink, ask the Library to locate a copy, or send a hard copy for digitisation.

Do I need to register all material?

You do NOT need to register the following:

- > Materials that you or UTS hold the copyright for.
- > Materials where you have permission from the copyright holder to upload.
- > Materials from websites that state that they are copyright free, eg creative commons.
